Europe-Bermuda Planes

To Launch New Service

PARIS, Jan. 1.—(UP)—A fleet of six giant seaplanes, equipped with Rolls-Royce motors, will roar out over the Atlantic early this year to inaugurate the first Europe-Bermuda passenger service, it was announced today.

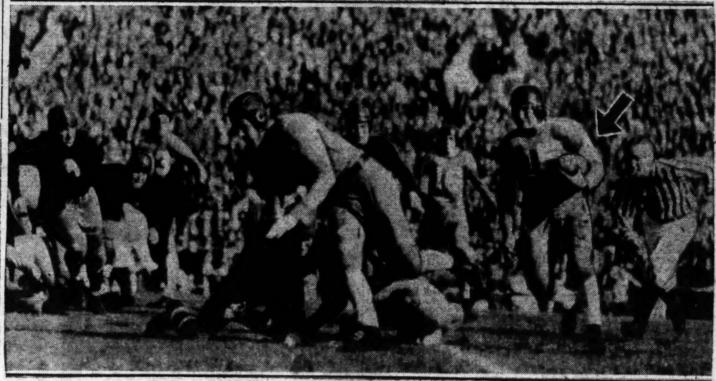

The British airline, Imperial Airways, made public its plan to join with the Pan-American Airways in the venture, but it has not yet been determined whether the Pan-American ships will link with the British at the Azores, or whether the British machines will be used on the Azores-Bermuda stage.

The annual $1,000 prize for an outstanding discovery was awarded to night by the American Association for the Advancement of Science to Dr. Carl Caskey Speidel, of the University of Virginia.

He is the first scientist to make a nerve grow so that all its secrets are visible from it's "birth" to maturity.

Dr. Speidel cleared up the doubt about how a nerve grows. Some scientists had held that it developed like a "chain," others that it grew from a single thry cell. But no one had been able actually to see.

Under Dr. Speidels "dark field" microscope living nerves seen in the transparent tail of a tadpole, proved to be cells instead of a chain.

All in all, it was a lovely, an artistic and a glorious performance. It provides a new memory to sdd to the many, enshrined in the hearts of all true lovers of the theater, that spring from the genius of Maude Adam, of Otis Skinner, of Paul Tietjens and their contemporaries.

Two great crowds are yet to greet them in the two performances today, at 2:30 and 8:30. Murder Is Charged PALATKA, Fla., Jan. 1.—(A)—A first-degree murder charge today was placed against Earl H. McGaha, local minister, held in the codnty-jail since Christmas Eve, following the fatal shooting of John W. Malone during a raid on a liquor still.

The charge was made following completion of a coroner's inquest.

Malone was killed during a raid led by the minister and sherift's deputies. The coroner's jury found that Malone "came to his death from shotgun wounds fired from a gun in the hands of E. H. McGaha."

The preacher claimed his gun was accidentally discharged when he tripped over some underbrush as the raiding party closed in on the still.

When men lived in caves, their ideal of feminine beauty bore little resemblance to modern standards. Pictures and sculptures discovered on cave walls indicate, according to J. AUTOMATIC MACHINE

TO PROTECT PLANTS Just as a thermostat regulates temperature, so a new "hygrostat" has now been invented that automatically controls the humidity of the air in a room. The instrument operates as an electric switch, controlled by changes in the length of a wood cylinder as it reacts to moisture in the air, says Popular Science Monthly. It is applicable anywhere that humidifying equipment capable of being operated by electric controls is installed in the air supply system. For use, a knurled ring is turned to set the instrument to the desired degree of humidity, and it will maintain this with a variation of only four per cent.

USE RUBBER SOLUTION TO PROTECT PLANTS

A new rubber product has been invented to protect plants in storage during the winter months. Dipped in this solution, the stalks are coated with rubber a thousandth of an inch thick, which protects them from diseases of other plants and tends to kill minute germs or insects by shutting off their air supply, says Popular Science Monthly. The rubber coating holds the plants back two or three days after they are planted; but when they begin to grow they do so more rapidly that untreated plants, manufacturers of the solution claim.

Red Cross Stands Ready Five More Cities Report Blasts or Plots on New Year's Day.

> By the Associated Press. Federal investigators and police of dozen cities combined efforts Friday date their farms and rush through their homes and business houses. A 10-inch rise in the Tallahatchie river was expected to crumble the already-soaked and soppy levees.

Meanwhile, Montgomery, Aïa., heard reports of the deaths of three negroes and injuries to 15 others in a tornado that struck an isolated area within 11 miles of that city yesterday.

While Glendora citizens fought grimly in what they believed to be a losing fight against the rising river, they remembered New Year's and took time but in the battle last night to stamp out the growing mentace of bombs, most of them directed at influential Italians.

In the last few days at least 12 bombs have been dispatched by mail or express, intended for Italian consults or others identified with the fascist movement. In addition, other scattered bombings or attempted bombings were reported throughout the country Friday.

After the first of the internal machines exploded in the Easton (Pa.) postoffice Wednesday the entire nation, and particularly persons connected with the Italian government, became wary of all packages from unknown persons.

ded with the Italian government, became wary of all packages from unknown persons.

None of the persons to whom bombs were addressed was kiled or injured, although three deaths resulted from explosion of the bombs found at Easton. Two postal clerks were killed almost instantly and a dynamite expert died Thursday night of injuries received when one of the seven bombs seized there exploded as he examined it.

Chicago police definitely established Friday that the package addressed to Giuseppi Castruccio, Italian consul in that city, was another bomb, the second sent to Chicago by express. Officers set off the bomb in a stone quarry and reported that the explosion was strong enough to wreck a large city building.

The other bomb sent by express to Chicago was addressed to Oscar Durante, editor of a pro-fascist newspaper. He refused to accept the package and his fears were confirmed when police fired at the box and found it to be a powerful bomb.

Count Ugo Berni Canani, Detroit Italian vice consul: Count Cesare Buzzi Grandenigo, Italian consul at Cleveland, and Dr. A. Rasapepe, Italian consular agent at Youngstown, Ohio, were the targets of similar at-til a storekeeper visited that city today, destroyed five negro houses and

One of the negroes killed was blown found in the ruins of his home and still another was found dead in a

The injured, several of whom were in a critical condition, were being quartered in a barn along with those made homeless by the tornado.

Cleveland, and Dr. A. Rasapepe, Italian consular agent at Youngstown, Ohio, were the targets of similar attempts. In each case, however, the bombs were turned over to the authorities and disposed of harmlessly.

The combined home and grocery store of R. Dionisio, an Italian living in Trinidad, Col., was destroyed by an explosion, believed to have been caused by a bomb, early Friday. The family was not at home and no motive was apparent.

In the rear of a Cincinnati commission merchant house, eight sticks of dynamite, a fuse and two batteries were found. The authorities thought, however, that they had been hidden by a gang of safe blowers.

Plot Frustrated.

Bellaire, Ohio, reported the frustration of a plot on Angelo Cifaldi, Italian merchant. Police stationed at his home after he had received threats arrested three men and seized 11 sticks of dynamite under his house.

The combination home and restaurant of an Italian at Paris, Ill., was rocked by the explosion of bombs. The man said he knew of no enemies.

1932 Makes Tumultuous Entrance, Brings Promise of Better Times

BY BEN COOPER.

January 2, 1931—beg pardon, 1932.

Write it right, because old 1931 is no more, and 1932, with its promises of hot national and county political campaigns, better business and leap year romances is in the saddle. The old year passed out at midnight Thursday, but not quietly, as those persons deafened by the uproar on Penchtree will testify. Midnight matinees in the movie houses and parties in hotels and homes featured the wane of 1931 and the birth of 1932.

Little Mr. 1932 of Grady hospital is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bryan, of 1108 Uncle Remus avenue, born just as the din of the celebration died down a few minutes after midnight. Some sort of an omen must be contained in the announcement from Grady that six other babies were born within the space of an hour early Friday morning.

Miss Cleo Sorrels, 20 of 508 Washington street, was the first person to be treated in the Grady emergency clinic in 1932. She was burned by a giant firecracker which went of the matomobile in which she was riding. The first 1932 fire call was a false alarm sent in from Ashby street and Glendale avenue. Miss Virginia Williams, of Camp McElroy, was the first person injured in an Atlanta automobile accident in at Grady. Miss Williams was slightly injured when three automobiles collided at Courtland and Cain streets, it was said.

J. D. King, of College Park, had the doubtful honer of winning the first police copy of charges issued in 1932. King was given a copy on a speeding charge by Motorcycle Officers Richards and Rivers.

LOUISVILLE ACCIDENTS SET DEATH RECORD

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 1.—(49)—
A new record for traffic fatalities was set in Louisville and Jefferson county during 1931 when 114 persons were killed in automobile and street car accidents. The largest number of previous fatalities was 85 in f929. The 1930 figure was 82.
With but two or three exceptions, automobiles figured in all of last year's fatalities.
One person already has been killed in Louisville this year, Mrs. Dorothy Harmon, 27, New Albany, Ind., having been injured fatally early this moraing when an automobile struck a street car loading platform.

Just half as many came as did last year, but they came from all walks of life and from around the world. To each, whether in gold-braided and beyond the court uniform, executives cutaway or shabby gentility, went the same handelasp and greeting.

It was a New Year's custom started 131 years ago today by John and Abigail Adams.

Only once did the sun break through. That was just at 11 o'clock, when a scarlet-conted marine band broke with a flourish and ruffle into "Hail to the Chief," and the President and Mrs. Hoover, arm in arm, walked downstairs into the historic blue room, followed by cabinet members and their wives.

It was a day of many incidents. One hour after midnight, two government clerks took up a vigil in the pouring rain at the White House gate. They wished to be first in line. Before daylight, two others joined.

All four, to their delight, were invited in to breakfast by the chief executive, risen early for his medicine ball game.

All manufacturing plants in the county are now operating on practically full time and more operatives are being taken on from time to time. At Trion a large additional cotton mill has just been completed and put into operation and employment has been given to a large number of new hands and also has given work to some people who had previously been temporarily laid off from the old mills.

There are now very few unemployed people at Trion, and a busy year at that place is anticipated. The cotton mills and knitting mill at Summerville are receiving many large orders for their products and there are no indications that these plants will be slowed down within the next year, and the same is true of the large yarn mill at Berryton.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—(P)—Consumption of meat increased slightly in the United States last year, William Whitfield Woods, president of the Institute of American Meat Pack-the Institute of American Meat Packers, said today.

More lamb was eaten last year than ever before, he said. There was little change reported in consumption of beef and yeal, while use of pork was slightly larger and lard 10 per cent larger than in 1930.

"Prices of both meats and livestock are at very low levels," Woods said. "Packers have leffected operating economies which will tend to narrow further the margin between the price which the farmer receives and the price which the retailer pays."

ting, the old, old lesson that the penalty of sin is death, is taught in a forceful way.

Eric Linden as the headstrong, self-confident young high school lad who finds that the path of headline glory leads to the electric chair, in some instances at least, does his part excellently. Arline Judge is good, while the feminine honors, without question, go to Beryl Mercer as the grandmother of the wayward boy.

The story smacks somewhat of a news story of recent months in which high school girls and boys were caught in the law's old dragnet in connection with holdups, but it does not hamper the picture story at all. In fact, it is good entertainment and if young folks act as, portrayed in the picture at the Capitol, parents may well sit back and with wrinkled brow ask, "Are These Our Children?"

There is a comedy worth seeing, an animated cartoon that's almost as good, and the newsreel with its present news and a review of the big events of 1931. The bill is excellent as a whole with no weak spots.

1,300 Atlanta Women Are Helping Us Plan Our January Sales!

In past Januaries we've bought merchandise we knew was good value and thought Atlanta people wanted.

We did pretty well.

NOW 1,300 women from all parts of the city have told us what Atlanta women WANT in January, and about what price they are WILLING to pay to get the bargains all women feel they are entitled to from their FAVORITE STORE in January.

Experienced interviewers of *a well-known Atlanta advertising agency (who mention the name of no store) have been visiting Atlanta homes asking questions to guide us. They asked about sheets . . . towels . . . linens . . . hosiery . . . gloves . . . men's shirts ... dresses ... and other articles usually in demand in January.

The answers to these questions give us an expression of opinion. representing as truthfully as possible THE BUYING INCLI-NATIONS OF 100,000 ATLANTA WOMEN.

If YOU were not interviewed and would like to answer the questionnaire, we will mail one to you, or you may visit Iris Lee in our store and your opinion will be appreciated. It will be added to this great effort we are making to bring to Atlanta women what THEY THEMSELVES have ASKED FOR at the price they are willing to pay NOW and consider their purchase a bargain.

The things that Atlanta women have told us they WANT are going to be offered in a series of sales starting almost immediately. Watch for these advertisements to see how nearly YOUR requirements agree with the advice we received from those who were interviewed all over Atlanta.

Stating that the taxpayer, although forced during the past year to get along on a lessened income. will have to give the government nore money next year than they did two years ago, when profits were large, the Syracuse Herald says:

These things being so, it is (to put it mildly) interesting to note that one of the largest industries in the nation is paying no tax whatever.

That industry, of course, is the illegal liquor industry.

Recalling that the bureau of prohibition of the federal government estimated that 69,829,218 gallons of whisky, 118,476,200 gallons of wine and 684,476,800 gallons of beer were sold in the country during the fiscal year ending June 30. Every other delegate was of the contrary opinion. France, through her delegate, declared that Germany ought to be dealt with later. But what if there is no Germany to deal with a few months hence, crushed as that country threatens to be between fascism and bolshevism?

An American was to have presided at the meeting by rights, but President Hoover vetoed that. Next candidate was M. Franqui. M. Franqui is a Belgian. "No Belgian and no Frenchman," said the others. "No Dutchman," said the French. Well, how about an Italian?

The French pulled a wry face, but there were no other nationalities left. So an Italian was chosen—Signor Beneduce. Bene means good, and duce means leader. A good leader; Beneduce! The gentleman is a professor of economics, a director of several big banks and a personal friend of his excellency Mussolini, who 's, of course, the duce of all duces. But the French did not look pleasant yet. For the Italian official thesis is that the whole treaty of Versailles is an evil. And Signor Beneduce shares that opinion.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Dallas, Texas. What, in your opinion, is the worst fenture of wrongdoing?

Its destruction of a man's capacity for right, doing. Human powers which were intended to trausmit life transmit death. Iffections that should spell peace and satisfaction become lust's burning flames. Causes and effects are set in motion by deliberate sinning which pull down to the stews souls meant for the stars. This is my main indictment of sin, It withers the spirit within a man until, if persisted in, he sinks below the level of the brute. the brute.

You and I have two great func-tions; we can know both good and evil, and we can do either. But the same capacity is employed whether for fellowship with God or with wickfor reliowant with God or with wickedness. It is not as widely recognized as it should be, that not a few Every individual who puts the spirit above the flesh is a successful candidate for more and better life. The rest are a bucden to their Maker, themselves and their fellows.

How can priests and preachers tell us that there is excompense in suffering? I am a sufferer and my pain has made me feel bitter. Life has little enough to offer me. I deeply sympathize with you, because nothing creates loneliness as suffering does. It separates us from the great mass who enjoy health and strength. It throws us back on ourselves, tests the inner resources of our hidden lives, and when faced rebelliously sets up the bitterness and agitation you mention.

But this is not all, nor is the best side of one's experience of suffering. For it admits you to the noblest felowship in the world. No roll of mighthood, however renowned, and all valrous, can compare for moral-reeminence with the lists of those tho have been ennobled and purified hrough their afflictions. I think that men and women should take advantage of the Lord's Day to get rid of the fatigue of body and mind, which sends to hospitals and easylums the victims of rush and hurry, and fills the cemeteries with premature graves. The living protoplasm of our makeup as human beings resents overdriving. That it is overdriven to the point of self-inflighted harbarism, medical science demonstrates daily. Prof. Seligman Discusses New Avenues of Taxation

BY PROFESSOR EDWIN R.

North American Newspaper Alliance, I NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Ought capital gains and what is the problem confronting the country?

The question is whether the gains derived from an appreciation in capital assets should be considered income or merely, as in England, addition to capital. We say that it is income; other countries say that it is an addition, to capital and therefore not taxable as income. Who is right?

In the case of a business concern virtually the only way of ascertainging annual profits is to compare the balance sheet at the opening and the close of the year. What more natural than to apply this accountant's concept of income to individuals as well? This has been done by several scholars. According to them, income is defined as "the money value of the net accretion to one's economic power between two points of time."

In principle there is much to be said for this in theory. There are, however, several difficulties in accepting this conclusion.

In the first place an income tax is supposed to be paid out of income. But the first place an income tax is supposed to be paid out of income. But the first place an income tax is supposed to be paid out of income. But the realist paid and the relative provided that the net gains arising from the sale of property held for more than two years might at the option of the taxpayer be omitted from his ordinary net income and spparately recorded for the imposition of tax at the rate of 12 1-2 per cent. This figure was, of course, entirely arbitrary.

Under this provision the income tax is of individuals in 1929.

But in reality there were many capital in reality there were many capital in the first place an income tax is supposed to be paid out of income. But our house we are content our chocolate ice—er, pad h complete sang froid, and other and more guilible folk g about nutritive value, calling a shout nutritive value of poics, the shout nutritive value of poics and the same value and the sa as income is evident today. If realized capital gains are income, then realized depreciation must constitute loss or deduction from income. This is most embarrassing as we see today. For, in the present depression when the government is in especial need of larger revenues to meet emergency outlays the yield diminishes. This disparity is accentuated by allowing losses to be deducted.

With the immense fall in all capital painfully aware at present.

ent against apital gain as income is based on the alleged reluctance of investors to sell their securities in times of in-flated prices. In the great boom of 1929 this probably played no small part in perpetuating and even in-creasing the inflation.

It is for these reasons that most countries refuse to regard capital gains as income. We included such gains in the law of 1913 but have been engaged ever since in whittling away the inclusion. The 1921 law provided that the net gain arising from the sale of property held for more than two years might at the option of the taxpayer be omitted from his ordinary net income and separately entered the sale of the taxpayer and separately entered the sale of the sa

Putting it in a nutshell, it may be said that capital gains increase the individual's ability to pay and ought therefore to be taxed in a democratic community; but that the attempt to include them in the income tax raises great difficulties of which we are painfully aware at present.

Railway Age Says New Year Is Turning Point for Carriers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—(P)—The tide turns in favor of the railroads today, the Railway Age said in its annual review today.

It offered a prophecy that January 1, 1932, would long be recognized as the critical point at which the earning capacity of the railways ceased to decline and began to increase.

"At the begining of 1932," the rail-way organ said, "the tide had turned in the affairs of the railroads because there was going into effect an increase of $100,000,000 or more annually in their freight rates, and there was in immediate prospect a reduction, for one year, of 10 per cent in their basic wage scales which, upon the basis of the pay roll of 1931, would save them about $215,000,000.

"Assuming an increase in freight business, the total benefit derived by the railways from these changes would exceed this aggregate of $315,000,000, and a slight improvement in freight business actually was occurring."

The normal annual purchases by American railroads from manufacturers average $1,350,000,000 and from fuel producers $350,000,000, a total of $1,700,000,000, reduced in 1931 nearly 50 per cent.

or $1,700,000,000, reduced in 1931 nearly 50 per cent.

The Railway Age said only 235 locomotives were purchased in 1931, 10,880 freight cars and 11 passenger cars. The smallest orders ever placed before were reported in 1919 under government operation: 214 locomotives, 22,062 freight cars, 306 passenger cars.

More new lines were built in 1931 than in 1930, but more mileage was also abandoned and a net decrease of 47 miles for the year was shown.

The total mileage built in 1931 was 748, an increase of 235 miles over 1930.

spect, is the director of the orchestral etting for "The Merchant of Venice."

Friday night, when Maude Adams and Otis Skinner interpreted the roles of Portia and Shylock for an Atlanta audience at the Erlanger theater. Paul Tietjens gave a new understanding to those who submit themselves to the drama of the immortal Bard of Avon. Delicately and unobtrusively, he wielded his genius over an orchestra, weaving an accurate Venetian background, for the play.

It is no careless task to provide the psychological background which an orchestra leader must give to keep the audience in a mood of understanding. Psychic and conscious mental moods must be atuned between artist and audience, and Tietjens demonstrated the quality which lifts him perhaps above any other leader of orchestrations for Shakespeare plays.

Entered Composition Field.

It was in 1916 that Tietjens, a student under the great Fuchs, sallied into the field of musical composition. Other masters, Leschetizky and Harold Bauer, had given him the wealth of their genius and understanding. Then, a comparatively young man, Tietjens won instantaneous and international fame as the composer of the score for "The Wizard of Oz."

Hearing his music, Miss Adams, in the hey-day of her early glory, summoned the musician for a conference which resulted in his writing the incidental music for Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella." The delicate artistry of Barrie was reflected in the moods of the score and Miss Adams swept to greater fame. That was in 1916.

Until 1918 Mr. Tietjens remained with Miss Adams as her director of music. Those, were two years of difficult days for the music master—days of one-night stands and hurried rehearsals of stranger-orchestras in new cities. No traveling musicians were carried with the Adams cast, and almost every day Tietjens was re-

Miss Adams sought Tietjens immediately upon reaching her decision to return to the stage. Through his brother she located him in Venice. Across the ocean he traveled to write the score for the Shakespearean play. The show opened in Cleveland on November 3, and since that time Tietjens, indubitably a fatalist, has carried on every day, rehearsing new orchestras and never worrying about whether or not the musical score will be adequate.

"I've learned that the music always works itself out—some way or another," he philosophized Friday.

Atlanta will attend the Erlanger show in large numbers this afternoon and tonight—but few will be consciously aware of the wizardry which is Tietjen's, which "carries" them to Vanice for the portrayals of Miss Venice for the portrayals of Miss Adams and Otis Skinner.

YEAR OF PROSPERITY SEEN FOR DEMOCRATS

Byrns Bases Predictions on Party Achievements During 1931.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—(UP)—A happy 1932 for the democratic party, based on gains made during 1931, was foreseen today by Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the democratic national congressional committee.

Byrns pointed to democratic victories of one sort or another in half, a dozen representative states, and to the fact that the democrats now have gained control of the house of representatives.

"With this series of significant victories to our party's credit," Byrns said, "democrats may look forward with confidence to the presidential election of next November."

election of next November."

"The year 1931 was marked by a series of striking democratic victories in state and congressional elections that foreshadow democratic success in the presidential election," he added.
"In special congressional elections to fill democratic victories, our party was uniformly successful in every section of the country, in Missouri, Georgia, Ohio and New York. We captured republican districts in Texas, Michigan and New Jersey. New Jersey elected a democratic governor by a majority of nearly 240,000, the largest in the state's history and au overturn of a republican majority in that state in 1928 of 152,000. In Kentucky, a democrat was elected

"Our party converted a republican plurality of two in the house of rep-resentatives into a democratic plu-rality of five, took over control of the house and promptly liberalized the rules of that body so as to make it more responsive to the public will and thus again demonstrated that the democratic party is the liberal and progressive party."

The young woman he had taken to the party and presumably the object of his affections, had left shortly before with another escort, Kinney Holt. former: star football and basketball player at the university. Before leaving she and Schaefer conversed privately for several minutes.

Her name was withheld by authorities, who likewise declined to make public the contents of another note and poem hastily written by Schaefer before he fired a bullet into his head. Hówever, the young woman was said to be a stenographer in the business office of the university.

Sheriff Henry Walker said the note and poem would be turned over to Schaefer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaefer, when they arrive tomorrow from their home in Milwaukee, Wis. FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 1 .-

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—(P)—The tall in security prices during the latter part of 1931 is partly attributed in the Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, to an unamily heavy reduction of bank credit. In the second week of December, the Review points out, the total loans and investments of weekly reporting member banks of the federal reserve system declined to a volume of $2,500. 600,000 smaller than a year previous, and the deposits of these banks showed an accompanying decline of about $3,000,000,000.

"Since September," it stated, "the tendency toward credit reduction has been accelerated, as a decrease of investments has been added to the reduction in loans. This accelerated decline started with heavy withdraw-als of deposits from banks, a considerable part of which represented the finds of foreign depositors, following the suspension of gold payments by Great Britain in September.

"The ensuing rise in money rates was accompanied by a decline in the many toward to the Federal reserves was accompanied by a decline in the mean together that the Monthly Review of the Federal reserves the immediate cause ceased to operate.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be dis-cussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am a J. wish girl in my twenties and have been going with an Italian chap, a Catholic.

the disowned by our folks. I have had practically everything I've wanted in this life and this man couldn't give me much luxury but I love him enough to do without. Is there a chance of happiness in such a marriage?

ANXIOUS.

ANSWER:

Dear girl, who has the temerity to tell a man and a woman that love each other that they have no chance of happiness in marriage? Nobody but the parents of those people or their spiritual advisers. I have not. I can only point out to you what others say. When that is done I must add that I have seen it fail ignominiously. The decision must rest with you two. I know one Gentile woman happily married to a Jewish man whom she adores. They have a lovely family of children. They are a happy and congenial family. Yet in spite of that, she said only recently to her younger sister who was contemplating taking the same step: "Don't do it, if I had my life to live over I shouldn't do it." Less than a month ago I heard a famous Jewish rabbi pleading with a vast audience of young people not to contract marriages with Gentiles. I left that great hall and sat down to a luncheon table with a Gentile woman, married to a Jew, and if I know a well-mated pair it was that one.

So many things enter into the decision that it is impossible to give a categorical answer to the question. A few days ago I received a letter from a young woman who was reared in a Protestant family where prejudice against the Catholic church amounted to a phobia. She was taught to think that it was better for a mill-stone to be hanged about her neck and for her to be cast in the bottomiess sea than for her to be connected with the Catholic church. But she loved a man who loved his church so much that he could never have been happy separated from it and she cut loose from her own church and went with him to his. Certainly she did wisely, if he was necessary to her happiness. The case with Jew and Gentile is far more complicated. It involves racial difference as well as religious difference, it involves prejudice on both sides as deep and traditional, almost as primal, as love itself. One can argue that these differences constitute a gulf impassable. Theoretically this is true, but practically we have seen the gulf bridged.

If one must sacrifice filial and family affection for romantic affection, is one willing to make the sacrifice? If one is born a Jew and one's child will be a Gentile, or vice-versa, can one be reconciled? These are some of the hard questions that you must answer; questions as hard as anyone must meet in determining one's fate. Only you can answer them.

The material aspects of such a marriage are unimportant by comparison with its spiritual aspects. Any woman that loves a man truly is willing to sacrifice luxuries in order to marry him, provided she has any character. Louie Hudson, Mrs. Jack Kelly and Mrs. C. W. Bandy.

Miss Lewis was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Asman Lewis, and her sister, Miss Floring Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will spend several days at the shooting preserve, hanting wild turkeys and quail and will, continue their trip over an extended period to Mexico and to the guif stream, where they will do game fishing. Mrs. Brooks is a cousin of Countess Felicia Gizycha, of New York.

Cason Callaway, W. H. Turner Jr., of LaGrange, and Hollis Lanier, of Albany, are spending this week at the Sea Island hunting preserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Robinson and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dobbs and B. Woodward were among the holiday guests at Sea Island Beach.

One of the most unusual events of the holiday season was the singing contest sponsored by Mrs. Maxfield Parrish and held at the Sea Island Casino on Monday evening, in which 50 negro spiritual singers from four plantations competed for a silver loving cup offered by Mrs. Eugene W. Lewis, of Detroit, and Hamilton plantation, and won by the St. Simon's singers. In characteristic fashion and dressed in the style of plantation days the singers delighted an audience of more than 150 from the Cloister, Savannah and Brunswick. Among the numbers that received the greatest applause were "You Must Bow Down to the Mire." "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray." "In Some Lonesome Graveyard." "Blood Done Sign My Name," "Ywant to Die Easy When I Die," "Saints Go Marching On" and "I'm Troubled About My Soul." Attending the singing contest from Savannah were Mrs. David Barrow, Irs. Robert Harrison, Mrs. Lawrence Lee, Mrs. Henry Hodge, Miss Margaret Styles and Percy Huger, who served as judges for the competition; Mr. and Mrs. Sounden Mars.

Win Day's Respite

Before Execution

CALTANISSETTA Sicily, Jan. 1.

(P)—Rather than start the new year with bloodshed, authorities here today postponed the execution of two men for murder, but they will be shot in the back at dawn tomorrow.

The executions will be the first for common crime in Italy in 41 years. They will be carried out simultaneous; ly by a double firing squad of 40 men on a hillside near the local penitertiary, probably in public view.

The decision to shoot the men in the back was reached because of the repurpanee of their crime, the victim having been only 12 years old. The two will be tied in chairs with their backs to the firing squad.

The 40 executioners arrived from Rome today. They will fire one volley, half of them alming at one of the murderers, half at the other.

The condemned men will be notified shortly before dawn that their appeal for royal chemency has been denied. The prison chaplain then will offer them the last rites of the church. The pair, Diego Mignemi and Francesco Calafato, were convicted three months ago. The court of appeals upheld the sentence, which will be the first to be carried out since the penal code was revised six months ago.

STATE SAYS MINERS

THREATENED SHERIFT

WOUNT STERLING, Ky., Jan. 1.

(P)—Testimony of speeches urging miners to "get rid of Jim Daniels and his gun thugs," was offered in evidence here today at the murder conspiracy trail of William H. Hightower. "We'll win out even if we have to wade in blood up to our necks," was a statement attributed to the union president by Miller Sergeant, a miner testifying for the state.

Hightower, 77-gear-old miner, is being tried in connection with the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Jim Daniels, chief guard at the Hack Mountain mine. The death of Daniels and three other men in a clash at Evarts last May between three automobile loads of deputies and a score or more of miners, climaxed the strike disorders and brought troops into the coal fields.

A threatening letter warning them not to testify in the Hightower trial was exhibited in the courtroom today by John and Hugh Lester. The brothers said it had been thrown on the back porch of their home. They are under conspiracy indictments but testified for the commonwealth in the Jones trial.

Floyd Lewis, who said he had been a union member, testified that at a miner testifying a page the commonwealth in the Jones trial.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—(P)—An official investigation was under way to day to determine the source of the interruption which caused a slight break in the broadcast of President Paul Von Hindenburg's radio address last night.

Authorities attributed the interruption to communists. As the president began the passage in his speech in which he pleaded for internal unity and faith in the fatherland, a voice broke in with:

"Hello! Hello! The sign of the red front is over Germany."

The interrupting speaker then began an impassioned call for a revolt against "the dictatorship and the effergency decrees," but before he could proceed his words were crowded off by officials of the broadcasting station, so that the president's final words became audible again.

Except for a momentary silence the interruption was unheard in Berlin, but indignant reports which pouved in here said it was plainly heard in the border provinces. The broadcast to foreign countries, however, was not affected.

Officials of the broadcasting station said they believed it was caused by tapping the wires either within or without the walls of the postoffice building at the village of Koenigs-wusterhausen, where the apparatus is located. They were investigating to determine whether any of the station employes are communists.

The communist newspaper, Rote Fahne, reviewing the party's activity during 1931, said the membership gained 200,000 during the year and the number of "cells" in industries rose from 1,524 to 1,802. Th number of local groups rose from 3,700 to 5,231, it said, and the number of street "cells" from 3,304 to 5,231.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN FLORIDA "BATTLE"

Martin's Summer

By Vicki Baum.

CHAPTER II.

It was at this moment, just as the clouds broke into a smile, that Martin became conscious somewhere inside him of two brown eyes opened wide to look at him. The conscious ness of this dismayed and also enchanted him. It seemed to him that these brown eyes were within him, within his own gray ones, and yet at the same time looking at him from outside. Nothing like this had ever occurred to Martin before although he was nearly 26; and it vexed him, in spite of the new and sweet sensation that pleased as well as troubled him. Where he had seen those eyes or whether they had any real existence outside his own eyelids, he could not tell. But then, as he raised one of his own fair eyebrows and wrinkled his forehead in perplexity, a voice suddenly attached itself to the eyes. "The bitter kind tastes best," it said.

Martin waved a rain-wet hand in the air and laughed as he remembered. His mouth suddenly watered and this experience was not so new and surprising as the other, He had no difficulty in thinking of bitter things that tasted good—of bitter ehocolate, very strong coffee, coffee things that tasted good—of bitter chocolate, very strong coffee, coffee with plenty of milk and a piece of sugar candy, of smoked bacon. Yes, he thought very intensely of bacon and he lingered awhile over the enjoyment of this thought, for the fine aroma of wood smoke mingled imaginary odors of food, or perhaps they were savery odors, real odors wafted from all these hotels and pensions. For the promenade had now reached the little town with its houses and people. I'm devilish hungry, Martin informed himself, as he mentally put a full stop to an imaginary collection of roast pork with cabbage and dumplings.

In front of the little weather human the same time he did not disdain certain refinements of speech due to the yearly influx of visitors from other parts.

In front of the little weather bureau people stood tapping hopefully on the glass of the barometer. The patch of blue in the sky had grown larger. The opposite shore of the lake became clearer and drew masset—with its curving sedge-clad outlines and the droop of its trees over little toylike villas. The promenade opened out into a square surrounded by white-washed houses. On a tongue of land running out into the lake stood several hotels. From windows lighted up at midday came the sound of lasf season's music, and whirring electric fans spewed out the heated atmosphere within into the village street.

"That's our square," the boy remarked. Martin had quite forgotten him, but he was still at his heels, bound apparently to unremitting service by the gift of a fragment of checolate. The square, and the hotels, the Big Petermann and the Little Petermann and the tennis courts."

The tennis courts were by the edge of the lake, and presented a sorry sight, being more than half under water. Martin shook his head.

"What soot of weather do you call this, I'd like to know?" he asked, with a reproachful glance up at the sky.

"It generally rains cats and dogs," replied the boy from below.

At this moment, and most inexplicably, the girl came out of the Petermann, stood at the top of the three red sandstone steps, and looked critically at the clouds in the sky. It was the same girl, the one to whom the bitter kind tasted best. The girl with long legs and shapely knees who scarcely a quarter of an hour before had vanished along the promenade in the opposite direction accompanied be an arrogant youngs main in a pull-over. Small Hope Is Held for Continuance of Dixie College League TULANE IS BEATEN BY CALIFORNIA, 21 TO 12

That loud rumble which had the radios squawking like a dozen alley cats was the coast yelling, "I told you so. There was just a hint of a quaver in the voice because Tulane almost spoiled things by scoring as many touchdowns as did El Trojan, The Mighty.

Southern California wins the national football chamship without an argument. But the team DID NOT appear as anything super, as the west would have us believe, in beating Tulane.

The Wave from New Orleans queered up the best made predictions of the past week. The dope was that they would play a great game in the first half and that in the second half the attrition caused by the constant pounding of the Trolan power would cause the Wave to disappear from the scene, so

The Wave played a great game in the first half, weakened in the third quarter and then, just as it was about to close, came surging back with a brand of foot-ball that had El Trojan. The Mighty, on the run and praying for the whistle to blow.

And so the south gracefully sweeps the old hat to the best football team in the United States and sends hearty congratulations and all that sort of thing.

But Dixie also claps hands for Tulane. Had the Tulane eleven not come from behind when all looked black and hopeless the Trojans would have gone down in history as a super team. And that would have been a very bad thing for football.

As it was, the Trojans were just one touchdown better than Tulane. It is quite a team, though, that Southern California outfit. And Erny Pinckert, Gaius Shaver and Ray Sparling stand out as some of the greatest backs in the game.

The south lost its first Rose Bowl game in five starts. But the losing was not without honor.

A CLOSE BATTLE.

It was a real ball game. The figures show it. They pay off, of course, on the points made at the goal line. But the other tabulations are always interesting.

Let us say that the best team won and then get on with the figures which show that it was a team which had no great edge over the losing eleven.

Tulane gained more ground running with the football than did the Trojans. The difference was more than 100 yards. And in total yardage the Trojan eleven was behind consider-

Tulane also led in first downs, the earned first downs being 17 for Tulane and 9 for El Trojan. Tulane's running attack was unexpectedly strong. It had in thought that the green-clad eleven would win by forward the south back where it belongs. Tulane also led in first downs, the earned first been thought that the green-clad eleven would win by forward passes. Yet they were able to complete but three, so well had the Trojan defense been worked out.

It was a man-to-man defense and the Southern Cal lads were hustling.

The figures, while they do show that El Trojan won, also show conclusively that El Trojan is no super team. 'It would have been bad for future teams had the score reached any large proportions. They would always be pointing back to this There are no super teams, but this one from Southern California came dangerously near being one.

It's a great team and made up of a great lot of boys. They deserved the championship they won Friday.

CRACKER REORGANIZATION.

Complete reorganization of the Cracker baseball club is promised in a meeting of the board of directors scheduled for this week or next, the directors being rather vague and secretive

The directors manage to smile mysteriously when asked as to the ultimate fate of Johnny Dobbs, the manager who is, or was, slated to walk the plank.

It is an important meeting that the directors go into. The baseball club is admittedly in ill repute with the fans. Whether justified or not the fans do not like the club.

The directors must find some method of removing the public hostility. Removal of Johnny Dobbs would not be the answer because the fans never blamed Dobbs for the showing of his ball club.

Players who created much of the dissension which wrecked the club in mid-season last season have been traded or sold.

R. J. Spiller, owner and vice president, declares that the fans may rely on a good baseball club for the next season. Undoubtedly efforts are being made to obtain one. The owners are facing a crisis. With baseball attendance off a bit they cannot afford to have an unpopular baseball team on the field.

The directors are all well-known citizens of Atlanta and are naturally anxious to produce a club which will be satisfactory. After a year in baseball they have learned something about the intricacies of the game. They should be given support in what-ever efforts they take to create a winning team. The efforts certainly merit support.

A GREAT SEASON.

Football closed out one of the most interesting seasons in sistory with the games of Friday. So far as the naked eye can detect there isn't a football game left on the horizon. It would not be surprising to find a sports page some day in June or July containing no mention of what remains the greatest game of them all.

Winning teams attracted larger crowds than ever re in a season which saw losing teams alump badly oint of attendance. The crowd which saw the Rose I game at Pasadena was one of the largest in the history of the Tournament of Roses game.

cations are that the game, after a period of unprece lented expansion, is once more returning to a normal basis. The

FOR DIXIE LOOP AS BEARS QUIT

Stegeman Fearful of League's Future After Mercer's Withdrawal.

By Jack Troy.

It is doubtful that the Dixie College Baseball League, organized last year, will continue, H. J. Stegeman, president, told The Constitution in a telephone conversation from Athens telephone conversation from Athens last night.

This situation exists following the announced withdrawal from the league of Mercer, one of the six charter members, yesterday.

President Stegeman said he had been in communication with members of Mercer's athletic board of control and that they expressed no hopes of Mercer's continuing in the league, due to the heavy expenses involved and the reduced gate receipts of the current football season.

"I don't think that Georgia' Tech will play a full schedule this season, and I understand other member teams are planning to curtail their programs.

LEAGUE TO MEET.

"There will be a meeting of league representatives in Atlanta early next representatives in Atlanta early next week, when the matter will be threshed out. I believe that the meeting will result in the abandonment of the league." Stegeman said.

"Then you don't think any effort will be made to invite other teams to join the league and play a season's schedule?" Stegeman was asked.
"I am afraid not," he replied. "Here at Georgia we likely will go ahead and play our own schedule. The other teams probably will do likewise."

Failure of the Dixie league is laid

Failure of the Dixie league is laid at the door of lean receipts from the football season. Most of the teams, if not all of them, rely on the proceeds realized from football to carry other athletics, including baseball.

ANDERSON INTERESTED.

ANDERSON INTERESTED.

There will be an attempt made, however, to keep the league intact, and invite other teams, among them Clemson, South Carolina, and Alabama, to join.

Frank Anderson, director of athletics, and coach of baseball at Oglethorpe, is one of the staunchest supporters of the league.

In an interview with The Constitution last night, Anderson said: "I am vitally interested in the welfare of the Dixie league and I hope Mercer will reconsider its action of today.

CHATTANOGA

"Clemson and South Carolina both want to get in the league and it is possible that Alabama would join. That would put Auburn and Alabama in the league and make for a keen intra-state rivalry.

"I hope that every effort will be put forth to keep the league going," Anderson concluded.

Among those who will attend next week's meeting here, besides Chair-man Stegeman, will be William Alexander, one of the main figures in the formation of the league last year, and Frank Anderson, among others.

Members of the league are Georgia Tech, Georgia, Oglethorpe, Auburn, Florida and, until yesterday, Mercer.

HOPE IS HELD.

While the league appears headed for the ash heap, there still exists a chance that out of the meeting there will come a solution to the problem. College baseball in the past several seasons has been on a steady decline, fairly threatened with extinction, and the erganization of the Dixie league was made to forestall what was regarded by many as the inevitable.

Followers believe that if the league is not to survive a death blow will be struck the diamond pastime in the south.

For that reason there will be the most determined of efforts made in the impending meeting to preserve the Dixie league.

College baseball will be an absorbing topic of conversation and action during the next few days. The crisis is at hand.

An early lead and close defensive play by the Bulldogs held the Chattanooga five almost powerless in the first half. They were unable to tally a single field goal and only the free trial efforts of Captain Tony Matusck, forward; Olinger, center, and White, Olinger's substitute, kept them from being "whitewashed." The count at the half was 8 to 3.

the half was 8 to 3.

Both teams had trouble finding the basket, although close guarding accounted partly for this. Except for the efforts of Bill Strickland, center, who scored three field goals in the final half, the Bulldogs would have gotten only one basket in that period, that by Tommy Moran. As it was, Chattanoga outplayed them, 14 to 11, but was unable to overcome that early lead.

Colorful Throng Sees Great Offensive Battle

Bulldogs Take Lead Early 21-Point Lead Proves Too Much For Courageous Green Wave To Overcome.

ROSE BOWL, PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 1.—The Thundering Herd of Southern California, called the greatest team in Pacific coast history splashed through Tulane's Green Wave for a 21-to-12 victory and the undisputed national football championship here today in one of the most spectacular exhibitions of offensive football in the 17 years of Rose Bowl games.

Generating from their power house three touchdowns on reverse plays featuring Ray Sparling and Gaius Shaver, the Trojans piled up a 21point lead that a courageous second half attack from Tulane was unable Tommy wielded magic clubs about the course to lead Len Mattson, St. Paul professional, his nearest competitor, by two strokes for the 18 holes.

F. Deering, Chicago, scored a 36-35—71 early in the day, but had to split third-place honors with dapper little Henri Cluci, Mill River, Conn., who scooted into the clubhouse with the last threesome to record a 37-34—71. Hank Hiller, La Porte, Ind.; Ralph Kingsrud, Fargo, N. D., and Wild Bill Mehlhorn, New York, had 73's, while Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., defending champion had to content himself with a 74. Lee Chase, Miami, was low amateur as he tied with Turnesa and three others at this mark.

LONG GAME FORTE. By Brooks G. Connally,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 1.—(UP)
A dead calm fell over New Orleans tonight as its 500,000 population sat dazed by the news that its wonder football team, the Tulane Green Wave, had lost to the Southern California Trojans, 21 to 12.

While the 1,000 rooters sat in the Rose Bowl and screamed themselves hoarse for the team, the 499,000 who remained at home had their ears to radios in the homes, at restaurants, drugstores, bookmaker's haunts and gambling dens.

Stunned into quietness after one of the noisiest New Year's Eve celebrations in the city's existence, the collective population was staring into the air at the close of the game tonight, completely surprised, but not disappointed in the team.

EMOTIONAL REVIEWS.

Emotional reviews of the game were heard above the click of roulette wheels and around dice tables in outlying gambling resorts. Dinner table conversation, if any, centered about the game (for New Orleans postponed its evening meal until the game was over). LONG GAME FORTE.

Armour's long game was his forte as he polled a score five strokes under the 37-36-73 par of the course, but his game on the greens was nearly as effective. A 30-foot putt on the 9th hole was his most remarkable performance of the day, and he went over par only once, at the 10th hole, when a faulty pitch shot from the right of the fairway was short to give him a five.

centrated up front to stop another drive. Mohler tossed the ball to Gordon Clark on Tulane's 28-yard line, a gain of 23 yards.

A world of interference formed in front of Shaver on the next play and he lugged the ball to Tulane's six-yard line. The old reverse play which has proved a great help to Southern California all season was then called and Ray Sparling went across the goal line.

Tulane could not get its forward-passing machinery properly oiled in the first half, trying eight tosses with no luck, but in the second half of nine thrown five were good, one for a touchdown. The home team completed its only pass in the first half, paving the way for the first counter of the game.

The Greenies were trailing, 21 to 0, before their offensive began to click. After the third Trojan score, the visitors took the kick-off and Glover ran to his 25-yard line. Zimmerman made a first down on the 35-yard line. Harry (Wop) Glover, who had previously electrified the crowd with the longest run of the day, made another not so long, but more spectacular. He twisted and slipped through a maze of tacklers and was not stopped until he reached Southern California's 16-yard line.

Zimmerman and Glover drove to the 11-yard line and then Zimmerman passed to Vernon Haynes over the goal line for the touchdown.

BAKER BOOTS POINTS. Johnny Baker, a sure-footed Trojan, kicked all three points after touch-down, but when Zimmerman tried to add the extra credit, Ernie Smith leaped up and blocked it.

Tulane made the costly fumbles all even when Captain Jerry Dakymple recovered Mohler's miscue on wouthern California's 35-yard line in the fourth period. Zimmerman lost three yards when Ray Sparling broke through and upset him. Zimmerman passed to Dalrymple for an 11-yard gain and Glover then ran to the 18-yard line.

HARD-FOUGHT GAME. Few harder fought football games have been played in a competition long noted for fierce intersectional rivalry.

GLOVER SHINES.

Zimmerman, a versatile back, lived up to his advance reputation but had to move over to make a place for Glover, one of the most elusive backs seen in a western football field this year. Glover was a hard man to get down and hard to keep down.

W. P. Lodrigues, playing out of the line on a roving assignment, complicated the Trojans' offensive, and like most of his teammates played the full 60 minutes.

All but three of the Greenbacks enlisted for the duration of the game when they started play. The Trojans, on the other hand, tossed in substitutes at frequent intervals.

The Trojans won the game, but their supporters lost money, perhaps, as many wagers were made on point secres, ranging from 14 points upward.

Hines and Wagnon Prove Combination Too Drastic for Texans.

> By Roy White, Staff Writer.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 1.—Two long forward passes at opportune times into the waiting arms of Henry Wagnon, All-Southern prep end, gave the Madison Aggies a 13-to-6 victory and the southern prep football championship over Allen Military Academy, of Bryan, Texas, at Memorial stadium here this afternoon. It was a charity game sponsored by the Columbus Elks, and drew a crowd of more than 2,500 spectators.

It was one of the greatest forward

It was one of the greatest forward passing games that has been seen here this season, and all three touchdowns were direct results of passes of 22 yards and longer. Many other passes were attempted in desperate attempts to tie or win the game late in the fourth quarter.

Allen's famed aerial attack clicked early in the first period for their only touchdown when Lewis passed 22 yards to Vanness for the six points. The try for the extra point was low.

Madison retallated a few moments later when Captain Hines threw one 30 yards to Wagnon, who raced the remaining 30 yards to a touchdown. A pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Near the middle of the fourth quarter, after an exchange of punts, Brammer crossed the Allen team up and passed 28 yards to Wagnon, who outsprinted the Allen safety man for 20 additional yards and a touchdown. Hipsey placement was good for the 20 additional yards and a touchdown. Hines' placement was good for the extra point. The pass play was made on the first down, and caught the entire Allen team completely off guard.

Allen's touchdown came as a result of a bad break for Madison. It was fourth down and inches to go for a first down, when a bad pass from center was fumbled, and Allen was given the ball on downs on Madison's 31-yard line. A line play fell inches short of a first down. Then Lewis, threw a long one, the only successful threw a long one, the only successful Allen pass of the game, for the touch-down that gave the Texans a tempo-

Allen fought desperately throughout the remainder of the first half to crash through, but Madison held its own and turned the invaders back. Early in the second quarter Madison was driven back to its 1-yard line, b an alert forward wall would not be fooled and Allen was held for downs with inches to zo for a touch-

GREAT STAND.

It was a great stand for Madison, and after a short punt, Madison again rose to the heights and stopped a rally when Hines intercepted an Allen pass shortly before the half ended. Except for three Allen first downs and one for Madison, none of which caused any material worry, there was nothing spectacular in the third quarter.

Stored-up energy and action was cut to loose in major quantities in the fourth period, to give the fans one of the greatest endings and a fitting climax to prep football for the 1931 season. Captain Hines started it off with a punt of 80 yards that sent Allen back to its 5-yard line. Again the Madison line would not be fooled, and Allen punted to the 30 yard line on second down, after a fake kick. After making a first down, Madison elected to pass, but Allen intercepted on its own 10-yard line. It was the only Madison. pass that fell into enemy hands. Allen could do nothing with the Madison line and punted to the 48-yard line. Madison, on first down, then passed 48 yards to Wagnon for its second and winning touchdown.

the result. U. S. C. made its breaks
I think Ernie Pinckert, Trojan it halfback, was the best man on the field. Pinckert, in my estimation, ranks right up with the football great of all time. He knows "inside" football, is a great blocker, almost perfect on defense and a runner of ability. It's a shame he does not kick and pass. With those accomplishments, he would be hard to beat in all-time star selections.

ments, he would be hard to beat is all-time star selections.

Captain Jerry Dalrymple, Tulane All-American end. played a fair game. I say fair instead of good because the Trojans went around him for a couple of touchdowns. He should have turned them in. However, it must be remembered that Dalrymple recently was injured and that the great U. S. C. attack was all "primed" and set in his direction.

Two great centers were pitte

Two great centers were pitted against each other. Captain Stan Williamson, of U. S. C., and Lodrigues played flawless games and each starred without making the other look bad. It is seldom that ohe sees such a pair of centers fighting for supremacy.

Zimmerman was an outstanding player for Tulane and his partner. Glover, in the backfield, also played heads-up ball.

I consider the game one of the best I ever saw. Incidentally it was the first time I ever saw a Rose Bowl game and the colorful spectacle impressed me almost as much as the fact that I was on my first newspaper assignment. It was worth bucking the traffic to the Bowl to see the game and "worry" about what I was to write as the teams warmed up.

Incidentally, this elaborate warming up nowadays, is certainly a contrast to what we did in my Carlisle days. With some three or four teams ready to go into action the players can warm up. We didn't dare warm up at Carlisle because we couldn't waste a half hour's strength. We knew we had just enough men to play the game and figured that we could get all the action we needed by playing the whole game. We usually did.

line. Madison, on first down, then passed 48 yards to Wagnon for its second and winning touchdown.

LATERAL CLICKS.

Allen's only threat was a lateral pass play that clicked for 65 yards in four trys. Allen, a speedy quarterback, was the starter of the freak play that gained most ground for the Texans. Gillman, a substitute back, also played well in the backfield. Deason and Crowe were exceptionally good on the offensive line for Allen.

The play of Captain Hines and Maxwell in the backfield and the work of the entire line was brilliant for Madison. The Texans gained 12 first downs against nine for Madison, but they came near midfield and caused no great amount of worry. Five Allen passes were intercepted and five others were batted down, while Madison completed three for 134 yards, missed three and had one intercepted.

Captain Hines averaged 47 yards the first quarter rained half the crowd out.

Meanwhile some of the outstanding football stars of the country slipped and slid through mud inches deep as the eastern representatives adapted themselves to conditions in better fashion than their opponents.

ONLY SCORE.

With the field comparatively dry during the opening period, the Easterners took advantage of two poor punts by the Westerners to put the ball intoplay 24 yards from goal. Steady smashes at the line, with the East's lowerful forward wall opening up huge holes; enabled Russell, of Northwestern, and Purvis, of Purdue, starting fullback and right half, respectively, to push the pigskin over.

In two kicking exchanges, Mason, Southern Methodist, starting quarter back for the West, and Kleckner, of San Francisco, left half, booted the ball only 17 yards and 21 yards. It gave the East possession of the ball deep in Western territory. Russell charged three times for gains of 7, 2 and 3 yards. Purvis added 7 yards and Russell 4 more.

teams created as a business asset are disappearing as the leaders of the game seek to return to a more sane basis.

The men in charge of the game have been unusually honest in their handling of affairs. The recent coaches' meeting might easily have seen hysteria, because of the injuries, sweep the meeting into some unwise legislation. Instead the men met the issues openly and capably.

It was interesting to note that the report on the many deaths attributed to football showed many deaths due to careless supervision of injuries and to the physical condition of the players,

A typical instance occurred while the meeting was being helds A high school boy died several weeks after an injury which had been diagnosed as water on the knee. An infection took his life. Yet it was called a "football death."

ball and after two plays, he sprinted untouched 32 yards around the left wing for the score.

With 16 minutes left to play and struggling on the sorrowful side of a 21-point difference, Wop Glover, brilliant senfor halfback of the Wave, lit the spark that produced the first of Tulane's pair of touchdowns.

On the most brilliant individual run of the day he eluded four would-be Trojan tacklers and raced 37 yards from his own 49 to the U. S. C. 15-yard line. Three plays later Zimmerman shot a pass six yards over the line to the large-pawed Lefty Haynes.

Jerry Dalrymple, bruised, battered and limping through the last half, dug deep into the depths of his courage to give his mates the chance for their second touchdown. Flying headlong to recover a Trojan fumble on the 35-yard and west one—from a penalty.

Easterners tried two passes and completed none while the Westerners took to the air five times and failed each line, two plays later he reached from his kaees for a pass from Zimmerman that set the ball on the 24.

Payne and Glover advanced it to the 18, and on third down Zimmerman faded back for a pass. He lined it in the direction of Haynes. It hit Pinckert on the knee, bounced straight up and Dalyrmple brought it to earth on the 4-yard line.

GLOVER SCORES.

Francis Payne socked center for two yards and on the next play the stout-bearted Glover fought his way around left end for a touchdown.

With three minutes left to play, Tulane was unable to move the ball out of its own territory after previously bolding for downs.

Southern California completely blanketed the vaunted Tulane air attack, their man-to-man defense allowing but three completed tosses.

Tulane outgained the Trojans on running plays, 275 yards to 175, and bung up 17 first downs to Southern California's nine.

Zimmerman was the leading ground gainer for Tulane.

Is that a bluebird singing, in nineteen thirty-two?
Is that a blue sky swinging across a golden view?
Back in the verdant clover,
Is the depression over?
Well research triples or rower. Well, peasant, prince or rover, Here's ... 1832!

Is that a blackbird sighing, in nineteen thirty-two?
Is that a gray wind crying its sombre tale of rue?
Is this the dark that smothers Worn sons of dreamless mothers? Well, anyway, O, brothers, Here's . . . 1932!

Is there a white star shining, for nineteen thirty-two?
One cloud with silver lining to let the sunlight through?
Here's one cup to lost laughter,
One song that rocks the rafter,
And what may follow after,
Here's . . . 1932!

We live but one life only, O, nineteen thirty-two.

The light hearts and the lonely—the red hearts and the blue;

But look—new dreams are waking, The dawn—the dawn is breaking! The heights are still worth taking!

The German Challenge.

The Teutonic challenge may be a prominent one along many lines of sport for 1932. In addition to Max Schmeling's defense of his heavyweight title there is also Hans Nusslein, the German tennis champion, who will offer his stuff against Bill Tilden, Vinnie Richards and others at the pro championship, which breaks out in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Monday. If the United States had a heavyweight contender as good with the gloves as Tilden is with the racquet, there would be a much louder hullabaloo in the pugllistic whirl.

after the Rose Bowl game. The arrival of snowstorms and blasting winds from the barren lands won't even check it.

The open forum is now on regarding injuries and rule changes and recruiting and the rest of it, and this will keep steaming.

We have just received an interest

We have just received an interesting contribution on the matter of injuries from Dr. Edward C. Showacre, formerly athletic physician at Ithaca and now on the medical staff.

Dr. Showacre, pointing to the Increasing standard of technical excellence, wants to know if emotional intensity isn't becoming more and more the factor that wins games?

Isn't it possible, he asks, that in some instances a few individuals or some instances a few individuals of the whole team are keyed too high?

Other Factors.

Other Factors.

It is not necessary, Dr. Showacre saws, to go fo the other extreme, for it has been amply proven that an alert, aggressive player is less liable to injury than one who is shirking and leaving his arms and legs projecting and unprotected.

Among the other headings which the doctor feels should be investigated is the matter of physical fitness—where death may result from play when physical disability should have originally disbarred the player from participation. One death, Cortland Normal, 1930, was due to a kidney injury where kidney pathology was present and the player should have been disbarred. Another is fatigue, which reduces the care

Ralph Hepburn and Bryan Saulspaugh Are Taken to Hospital.

Two of the nation's most prominent automobile racers, Ralph Hepburn, of Indianapolis, and Bryan Saulspaugh, of Rock Island, Ill., were critically injured during a scheduled 100-mile race here this afternoon.

Hepburn's car crashed through a fence on the thirty-fourth lap of the speedway. Saulspaugh's machine, in which he had broken the American dirt track record for one mile with a speed of 101.95 miles an hour in the preliminary event, skidded into the judges, stand on the fiftigate lap. The big sports picture of the whole year, in my judgment, was the distinction won by Pepper Martin as the outstanding figure in all sports. It is a fine tribute to baseball that, in a nationwide poll of American editors and sports writers conducted by the Associated Press, taken ten weeks after the series, and with a thrilling and interesting football campaign intervening, this young ball player of the preliminary event, skidded into the judges, stand on the fiftigate lap. Hepburn and Saulspaugh were taken to Hayward hospital where physicians, after a preliminary examination, announced both were suffering from head injuries and severe shock. Each had a possible fractured skull and Saulspaugh also had an injured shoulder.

which the player would normally take to protect himself.

still another is football technic. Are some methods of blocking and tackling as effective as others, and safer? Three methods of tackling are commonly taught—body in front, head in front, and head behind. Each has its advantages. There ought to be some basis for demonstrating which system actually is safer for the same degree of effectiveness. And the same goes for blocking methods.

Finally, the matter of injuries

Finally, the matter of injuries is not always attributable to facis not always attributable to fac-tors attended to before the game, for in the contests such variable factors as distance, relative speed of players, inability to have the feet in good position for a take-off, etc., force the player to do merely what he can under the cir-cumstances. And the relative merits of the two antagonists, a good, big one and a less skilled little one, alter the case.

Much more emphasis might Much more emphasis might be placed upon a player's being light on his feet or keeping moving until a play is ever to prevent leg injuries, which may occur if he is unexpectedly struck from the side, with one or both legs firmly placed on the ground.

The Warning

Whatever may be the fortunes of professional baseball the coming year, the watchword, perforce, will be economy of operation. With the going rocky enough in good times for the weaker clubs, baseball is bound to operate part season on a basis that weaker clubs, baseball is bound to operate next season on a basis that will give those clubs a reasonable chance to exist. No longer can league success be based on the success of only four of its clubs. It is a situation that ealls for the co-operation of players and club owners in arriving at just and equitable salary adjustments.

Baseball is ever the game of the Haseball is ever the game of the optimist. Hope and faith in the team and in the game never desert its disciples. Always next year looks better than the last. And so, although we are preparing to take a reef in our financial sails, we are nevertheless looking forward to the baseball season of 1932.

Youngsters Dominate Southern Golf Field

Chasteen Harris, Memphis Veteran, Holds Fort Against Flock of Brilliant Kid Players.

By Dillon Graham.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
Youth shot its way through crowded fairways of veterans last yearto capture more than half of the southern states' amateur golf championships.

Dixie's premier event, the southern amateur, was won by a member of the older brigade, Chasteen Harris, of Memphis, but the final rounds of the Chattanooga tournament were full of youngsters.

Virginia's Billy Howell claimed more national attention than any southern golfer. The 19-year-old Richmonder swept to the semi-final round of the national amateur before bowing to Francis Outmet, successful in his comeback drive. It was Billy's first appearance in big league.

By John A. Heydler, President, the National League. NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—(R)—Baseball lost no ground in 1931. It not only held its own as our foremost American game, but it made great strides in countries to the south of us, and particularly in far-off Japan. It is true, our professional game suffered fimancial setbacks. The amateur, sandlot, semi-pro and especially the boys' game enjoyed a country-wide revival. None of the park authorities of our big cities could begin to meet the demand for baseball diamonds, much of which came from men and boys out of work and who craved low-cost diversion and healthy exercise.

Forgetting our losses in dollars, and thinking alone of the sport and its forward steps, I am sure the National league can well feel gratified with the results of its fifty-sixth season.

He Will Meet "Strong Man" Steinborn Here Tuesday Night.

Blue Sun Jennings, Osage Indian and crack end with the Memphis Tigers, pro football team, will meet his supreme test as a main go performer in Atlanta wrestling circles when he tackles Milo Steinborn, German strong man, in the main bout of For one thing, the new ball, rather unexpectedly perhaps, restored many of the lost scientific features of play. Our games, generally, were closely contested and low-scored. The pitchers suddenly gained prominence and the fielding, especially at shortstop, was the most brilliant I have ever seen. when he tackles Milo Steinborn, Ger-man strong man, in the main bout of Henry Weber's Tuesday night card at Henry Weber's Tuesday night card at the auditorium.

Steinborn, an exponent of the "bear hug," is said to be the strongest man in the game, but Jennings is a very skillful performer with a dash of football tactics in his repertoire. The Indian, since he began wrestling here, has built up a vast following. The change in style of play like-wise had the happy effect of keeping a number of our older star players in Against improved defense, batting became an art. Three men were practically tied for the leadership in the closest individual championship race closest individual championship race we have had in several years.

Much of the old league's prestige was regained by the Cardinals' seusational victory over Connie Mack's great team. If we now spread the World Series record over the past 13 years, we find the score: American league 7; National 6, which about establishes the parity in playing strength of our two major organizations.

The pair wrestled a one-hour draw here recently.

His friends will be interested to see how he comes out with a veteran like Steinborn. If Jennings can escape the German medico's bear hug heavy here in a war him down with his punishing body blocks and head locks.

TWO-UMP SYSTEM.

The two-umpire system, for all practical purposes, will be in vogue next season. Two extra men will probably be carried on the staff, and assigned one to the east and the other west. It was held by most of our league people, and by many baseball writers, that three officials on the diamond were excessive, and that two umpires would make for more alertness and action. It will take a season to determine whether the two-man system is

Dawson Basketeers

DAWSON, Ga., Jan. 1.—The Dawson Athletic Club defeated the Cuthbert Athletic Club here last night in an interesting game of basketball that ended 20-14. Taking the lead quite early in the game, the locals kept a safe distance and were never in danger though the half ended 9-6. Childers, at center for Cuthbert, was high-point man for his club with 13 of his team's 14 points, and ten of these were registered from the center of the court. The entire Dawson club played a good game, both on the offense and defense, with Flowers high point man.

Dawson will give Cuthbert a return game in Cuthbert January 5, and will meet the Ideal (Ga.) Athletic Club here January 7.

Edwin McClure, another 19-year-old star from Shreveport, won his third Louisiana diadem, while Charles Yates, of Atlanta, two years younger than McClure, captured the Georgia amateur. He is the youngest state champion since Bobby Jones wore the crown at 14. Yates advanced to the semi-finals of the southern amateur, after toppling Emmett Spicer, of Memphis, several times champion.

Missispipi's amateur king is Gene Vinson, 18, while Berry Wilson, 22, set the pace for the Kentucky golfers. Jack Toomer, 21-year-old Florida champion, won the southerstern amateur and went to the finals of the southern amateur, and went to the finals of the southern amateur and went to the finals of the southern amateur and went to the finals of the southern amateur and sought this title, but each year his game faltered at some critical time. Last June his game was at its peak and the best the combined force of youths and veterans could produce was not enough to stop him and his phenomenal putting.

Parrot Summons Aid
To Extinguish Fire
VALLONIA, Ind., Jan. 1.—(R)— Here's a parrot that says something more practical than "Polly wants a cracker."
Its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Zerah
Purdy, taught the hird to scream
"fire" when fires were started in the stoves of their home.
Last Wednesday the parrot and four canaries were left alone in the house, Polly cried "fire."
"Its cries brought Mrs. Purdy hurrying to the house, where ahe found a blaze and the rooms filled with smoke.
Neighbors extinguished the fire.
The four canaries died of suffocation. PEACHTREE BOAD METHODIST.

8-YEAR-OLD GIRL

VICTIM OF ATTACK

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 1.—(P)—
Seven hours after she was kidnaped Adda B. Ruhl, 8, returned dazed, to her home early today. She was taken to a hospital by police who said she had been criminally assaulted.

Officials said the girl told them she was seized while on an errand for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Ruhl, early last night and held captive several hours in a garage by an unidentified man.

After being treated at a hospital the child went with policemen to a point near her home, where she identified the garage in which she had been imprisoned and molested.

She told police her abductor was a well-dressed white man. Authorities said the description fitted that of a man arrested several months ago in a similar attempted attack.

(P)—Old Zeb Pike wouldn't have known his peak as the new year touched it teday.

Promptly at midnight a burst of fireworks and flame from the summit of the white-coated monarch of Colorado mountains told the world that the tenth annual climb of the Adaman Club was successful.

A white rocket was dispatched to the north in tribute to the memory of the late Roald Amundsen, honorary member, who perished while bearing aid to the Nobile arctic Expedition.

The Adaman Club has been celebrating New Year's from the top of the peak for 10 years. This year the members fired one and one-half tons of fireworks to celebrate the passing of 1931.

Mrs. Ella Elizabeth Brewerton, 75, mother of Alfred W. Brewerton, Atlanta Journal cartoonist, died early Friday evening at the family residence, 418 North avenue, N. E., after several years of failing health. She had been seriously ill for three months.

Born in Hirhland, Ill. the daughter had been seriously ill for three months.

Born in Highland, Ill., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Suppiger, prominent Illinois family, Mrs. Brewerton was the wife of the late A. E. Brewerton, who died 20 years ago. Besides her son, her only other close survivor is her daughter, Miss Alice L. Brewerton, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at Spring Hill, with other arrangements to be aunounced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. Brewerton had been a resident of this city for more than 20 years, and was widely known throughout the city. She was widely traveled, and had visited most of the countries in Europe during her girlhood.

Throughout her long life she was intensely interested in contemporary matters, and was an avid reader of newspapers and magazines of contemporary thought. In her latter years, when she was forced to spend most of her time indoors, she still received her many friends at the family home. She took and active part in church work and was for many years a member of the Woodlawn Methodist church in
